Can a movement succeed without an outstanding leader?
YES ☐ NO ☐

No, say some commentators. The common belief that great and important changes can come out of the democratic process itself, they regard as essentially false. There must always be some outstanding leader who can give a movement the power that can result only when it is highly dramatized. The socialist experiment of the Labor party in England failed, they feel, because its leaders were men of great integrity and high ideas but not men who could convince the British people that they were doing something of tremendous significance.

Does skill mean the ability to do anything?
Yes ☐ No ☐

No, says Dr. Margaret Mead, at least it ought not to. Skill usually means the ability to do something or handle certain tools effectively. It should mean the ability to handle life. The most important skill is not that of the painter, the carpenter or the musician. It is that of the person who is able to get along with himself and with his fellow man and with the larger world outside both him and his fellows.

Can former mental patients get jobs?
Yes ☐ No ☐

Yes. Some companies still are reluctant to employ anyone who has been emotionally ill. But a recent American Medical Association report shows that workers who have recovered from mental illness compare favorably with other employees. In the experience of Dr. Lauren Smith, former chairman of the AMA Council on Mental Health, recovered patients usually get jobs if the labor market is reasonably favorable.

Use Cardboard, Tape to Make Frame for Snapshot

BY CAPPY DICK

Carefully measure the width and height of the picture and cut four narrow cardboard strips of the proper size. Cut the ends of the strips diagonally so they will fit snugly together as shown in Figure 2. Glue these to the picture.

As the final step, glue the picture to a piece of cardboard to provide a stiff backing. If you wish, you may make an easel-style support to be glued to the back to hold the picture upright.

Once you have framed a picture it will be easy to follow the same procedure to frame all of your vacation snapshots so you can have an interesting display on your desk or dresser.

Arguments for Ratification of Treaty Strange

Military, Scientists Oppose Pact Signed With Soviet Union

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — More puzzling than any of the words themselves in the pending treaty limiting nuclear tests are the strange arguments being made urging its ratification.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff, who represent the military judgment on which the security of the country is customarily based, say frankly that they have had their doubts but that, on the whole, they now think the disadvantages in ratifying the treaty are outweighed by the advantages. They insist, however, that the United States not only carry on a vigorous program of underground testing but that it stay ready on short notice to resume atmospheric testing if the Soviets abrogate the treaty.

Lawrence

All this is difficult for the average person to understand, and many members of Congress have wondered whether political pressure has been applied to persuade the joint chiefs to support the treaty. In fact, in a Senate committee hearing this week, the question was asked if the joint chiefs responded to "pressure." This was emphatically denied. But the mere raising of the question indicates that in the back of the minds of some Senators is a feeling that the high military officers do not dare to incur disfavor. Indeed, recently a Chief of Naval Operations was not reappointed and, while it was denied that he was punished for expressing his views before Congress on a controversial issue, the idea prevails that he did disagree with the administration and paid the penalty.

Political Issue

The campaign to get the treaty ratified is typical of what happens when a political issue is involved, but it is not characteristic of the kind of discussion that usually takes place when purely military matters are being considered. It is doubtful whether any high military man would venture openly to question the wisdom of ratifying the nuclear-test treaty.

Another puzzling development is the attitude of the nuclear scientists. While a large number favor ratification, it is significant that Dr. Edward Teller, often referred to as the "father of the hydrogen bomb," is vehement in his opposition. Efforts are being made by the administration to pooh-pooh his objections as of secondary importance, but his testimony — just published — has served to increase the doubts prevalent on Capitol Hill.

Catch Up

Dr. Teller says that testing in the atmosphere is important in order to catch up with the techniques in which the Soviets are ahead of the United States. He says that nuclear explosions in the air are the key to developing missile defenses. If the Soviets feel they are at an advantage, they can threaten attack and gain political concessions by such a threat. They could invade small countries at will, knowing they would not be risking war with the United States. So, Dr. Teller insists, tests in the atmosphere and in outer space are absolutely essential to America's future safety.

There is considerable speculation as to why the Moscow gov-

Picnic Planned For Youngsters In Play Events

KAUKAUNA — The annual picnic to reward boys and girls for participating in summer baseball and softball programs will be held from 5 to 8 p.m. Tuesday at LaFollette Park.

Sponsored jointly by the recreation department, Kaukauna Athletic Club and sponsors of various league teams, treat the children to soft drinks, ice cream, hot dogs and other refreshments. Various games and contests are held with prizes awarded. An innovation this year will permit participants to join in the fun.

Adult personnel supervising activities will be James Gertz, Harold Kohn, Ken Roloff, William Flynn, Marcel Lamers and John Hilgenberg. In event of rain the affair will be held Wednesday.

One Person Hurt in Two-Car Mishap

MENASHA — Close to $250 in damages was caused to two cars Thursday and one person injured in an accident in the 500 block of Keyes street.

The accident apparently occurred when a car driven by David G. Muntner, 17, 421 W. Marquette St., Appleton, traveling west on Keyes street, hit the rear end of an auto driven by Mary A. Wisneski, 19, 629 De Pere St., Menasha. Miss Wisneski suffered whiplash injuries.

eminent reversed its previous decisions and suddenly decided to go ahead with a plan it had earlier rejected. It is suggested that the Soviet experts may be planning someday to mount a mock attack by, say, 500 missiles high over Russia and counter the attack with a display of their anti-missile defense system. Dr. Teller thinks they might even invite American experts to watch the test. If the test happened to fail, the Russians would have lost only the treaty, but he thinks that, if the scheme worked, they would then be able to say: "now, you see we have an excellent defense and can absorb any attack you can send against us. There is the proof. Now please do this and that, etc."

On this point alone — inhibiting U.S. development of a missile defense — Dr. Teller feels the treaty is dangerous to the United States.

Secretary of Defense McNamara, in his testimony before a Senate committee this week, said:

Minimum Risk

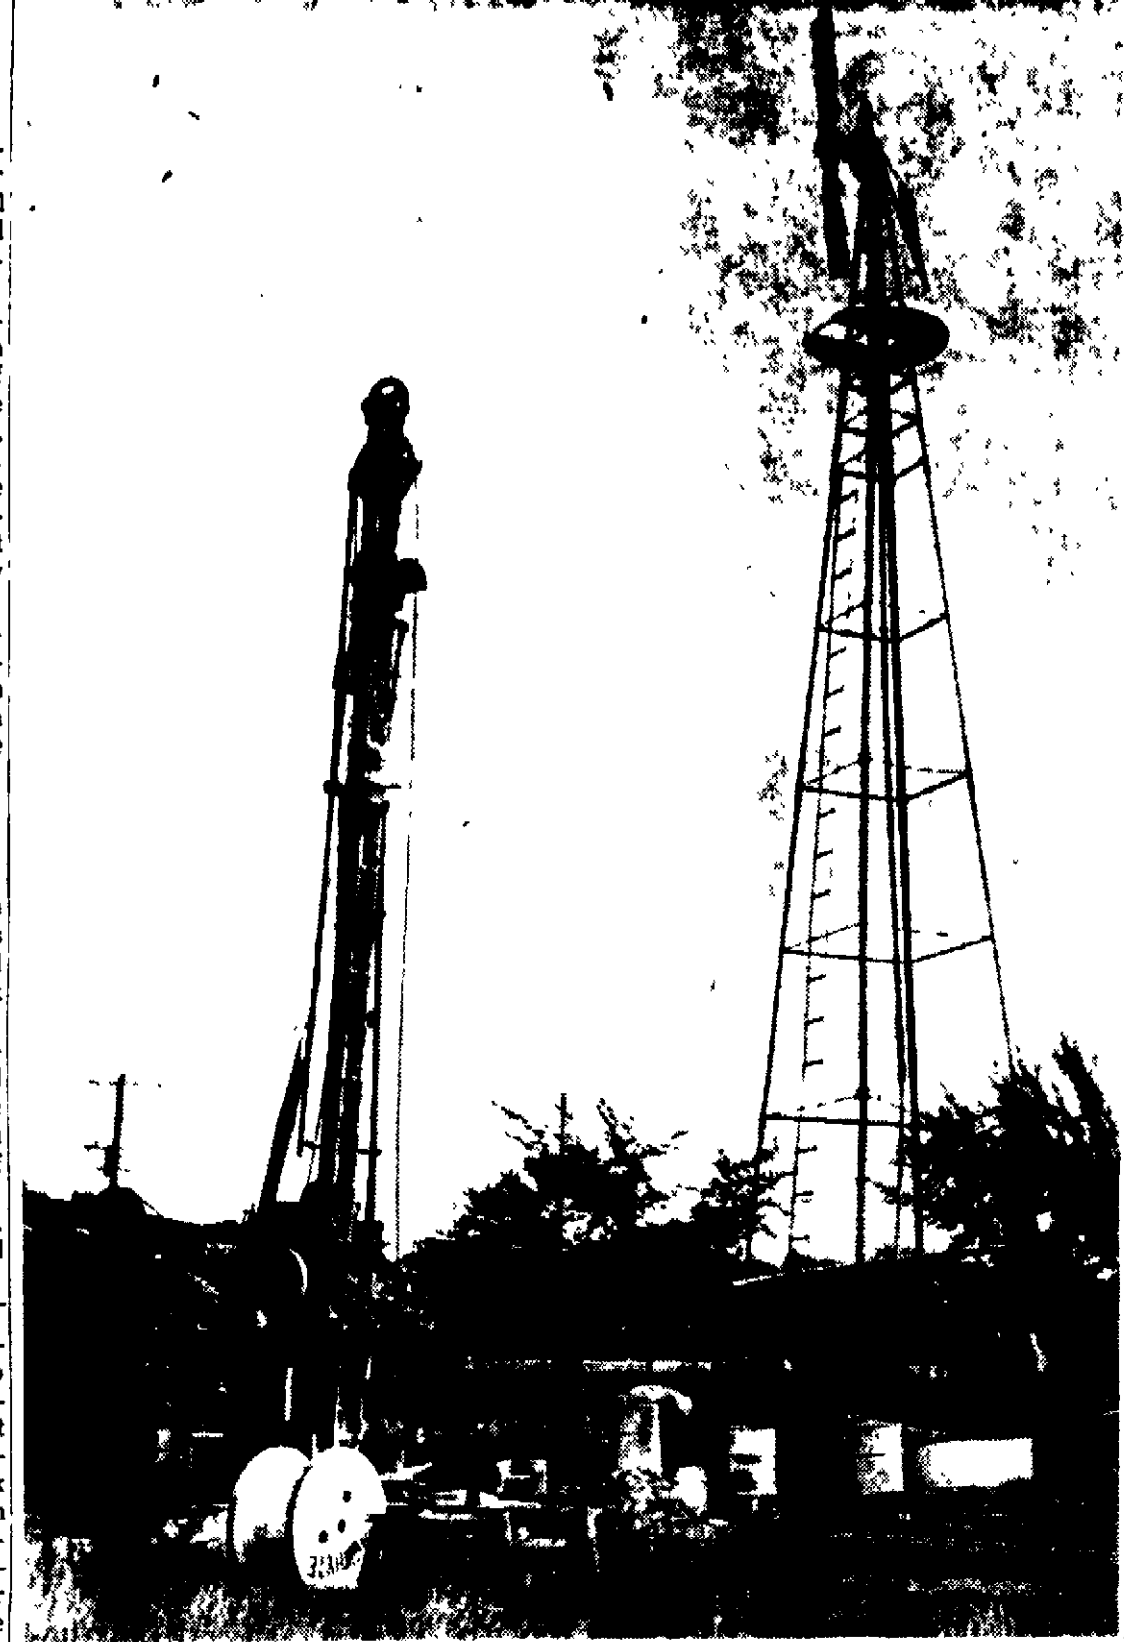

"And probably more important than purely military implications, the treaty should provide us with an opportunity to test the sincerity of Soviet protestations about their desire to explore more sweeping arrangements for preserving the peace. It provides us with this opportunity at a minimum risk."

"I do not pretend that this or any other agreement between great contending powers can be risk-free. This one is not."

But the secretary feels that America possesses the power of a devastating retaliatory attack that could destroy Russia. America can rely on that potential cover, however, only as long as the Soviets do not develop a system whereby missiles from the United States or its bases on land or underwater are intercepted and nuclear materials are disintegrated in flight. That's the true worry of the scientists who disagree about approving any treaty while it halts testing in the atmosphere.

As for fears of "fallout," testimony has been given that these claims have been exaggerated and that the radioactive substances which drop from the air after nuclear tests have not been anywhere near the maximum limits at which the nuclear "fall-out" becomes dangerous to mankind.

So the whole issue is far from clear and probably many weeks of debate in the Senate will ensue before final action is taken. (Copyright, 1963)

Senate May Get Test Ban Treaty By Next Week

See Overwhelming Ratification of Historic Document

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says his foreign relations committee should be ready within two weeks to send the limited nuclear test ban treaty to the Senate floor.

The Arkansas Democrat predicts overwhelming ratification of the ban on all but underground blasts—perhaps with fewer than 20 votes in opposition.

Fulbright made this forecast Friday after John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, told the committee he favors ratification and regards the treaty as compatible with national security.

Earlier, Fulbright had said the vote might be 80-20 in favor of the pact—well over the required two-third majority. McCone's endorsement probably reduced the opposition further, Fulbright told newsmen.

Secret Testimony
McCone's secret testimony rounded out the first week of committee hearings. Members of the Senate Armed Services Committee and senators who serve on the joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee have been sitting in.

The armed services group has asked Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara for statement setting forth how safeguards urged by the Joint Chiefs of Staff

Thieves Take Lead, Hub Caps at Neenah

MENASHA — Police are investigating two thefts during Friday night, one in which 100 pounds of lead was taken.

William O. Smith, 400 Main St., Menasha, told police the lead was taken from a new house he was building. It was used by plumbers for pipe work and was in large bars. No estimate of value was made.

In a second theft, Curt Hoerning of Gibsons Garage, Menasha told police that four hub caps were taken from a new car parked behind the garage. They were valued at $46.

are to be carried out. Fulbright said he does not expect this to delay action by his committee.

McCone has given the pact his blessing, and the military chiefs have endorsed it provided the ban is accompanied by certain safeguards to reduce what they term disadvantages and risks.

These safeguards include an aggressive program for nuclear weapons development through underground tests, maintenance of modern nuclear laboratory facilities, a readiness to resume atmospheric testing promptly should the Soviet Union abrogate the treaty and improvement of techniques to detect violations.

Alfonsi to Seek Overriding of Proposal's Veto

Bill Would Increase Annual Payments For Tax Base Losses

MADISON — A leading upper Wisconsin legislator says he will make every effort to persuade the legislature when it reconvenes in November to override a veto by Gov. John W. Reynolds of a bill to authorize more generous payments to local governments to compensate them for tax base losses to the states enlarging recreational land buying program.

The statement came from Paul Alfonsi, assemblyman for Iron, Vilas and Oneida counties and Republican floorleader of the assembly, who added that he is confident the governor's objections can be overridden.

Alfonsi said he is certain of the bill's passage in the senate notwithstanding the veto, and recalled that half a dozen Democrats in the lower house voted for the bill originally. Republicans in the assembly lack a majority of the size required to override Reynolds without some help from the Democrats.

The governor in his veto earlier in the week was careful to avoid a denial of the merit of state land tax reimbursement to the local governments in the area of public land acquisition, and volunteered to arrange for a study of the public land taxing problem that could produce an alternative program for the consideration of the fall legislative session. The governor expressed his doubts about the validity of a flat reimbursement scale, without regard to values or local needs, and said he felt the 30 cents an acre proposed as an annual payment was too high.

Land Tax Laws
Alfonsi said some interested legislators regard the disagreement with the governor as largely one involving the desire of political parties to take credit for the reform of the state land tax laws.

Thus far the issue has been carried by northern Wisconsin Republican legislators. If the governor could win acceptance of his own substitute program, there might be some political dividends for his Democratic party in the achievement, in that view.

U.S., Canada Reach Accord On A-Weapons

Pearson Tells Nation Joint Control of Arms Is Assured

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson announced today that Canada and the United States have reached agreement on the conditions under which Canadian forces will acquire nuclear warheads.

He told a news conference after a cabinet meeting that arrangements relating to custody and control of the warheads "satisfactorily protect Canada's national interests and conform with the position Canada has taken internationally on the nonproliferation of nuclear weapons."

In a prepared statement, the prime minister said the United States will retain custody of nuclear stockpiles. But Canada will share control in any use of the warheads, he added.

U. S. Custody

"When the stockpiles are established the warheads will remain in United States custody, and for this purpose small units of United States custodial personnel will be stationed at the Canadian storage sites, at bases which will of course remain under Canadian command and control," Pearson's statement said.

"With custody remaining with the United States, the arrangement does not add to the numbers of government's having nuclear weapons at their independent disposal."

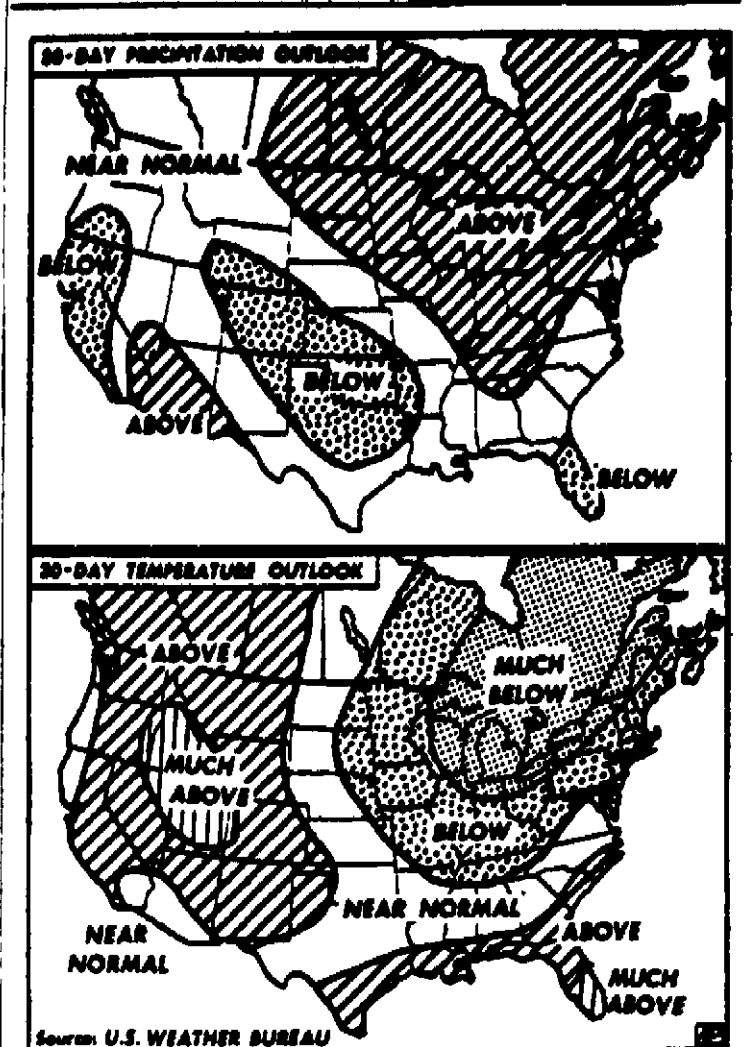

The statement said the agreement provides for "the application at all times of the most stringent safety measures."

"Finally, these nuclear warheads cannot be used operationally without the authorization of the Canadian government."

"Joint control is thus assured."

Voters at New London to Air School Budget at Public Hearing

NEW LONDON — Voters of the 10 teachers, increase in teachers' salaries, general increase in the 1963-64 proposed school books and supplies for an estimated budget of $668,893 at a public hearing which will be held in the school costs for high school and school auditorium Tuesday at 8 elementary school students p.m.

The new budget, which was delayed because of the state legislature budget squabble has increased, from $613,130 last year to a proposed $727,724 in the new budget. This increase of $114,594 is due to added cost of fuel, telephone, electricity, salary increases, opening of the Medina School for kindergarten and increased costs of cleaning supplies. Maintenance costs have decreased 19.8 per cent in the proposed budget from $22,564 in 1962-63 to $20,119. Superintendent Quailley said this $2,445 drop was due to maintenance of past years whereby new roofs, blacktopping, new furnaces and other major repairs have reduced the cost of maintenance.

Another decrease is shown in the general control. Last year $36,345 was spent and this year $32,045 is proposed. This represents a 12 per cent drop. Quailley explained that last year the district paid $3,618 for a university survey of the district which increased the actuality of the instructional program expenditure.

Percentage-wise, auxiliary services and community services took the greatest jump. Auxiliary services went up 78.5 per cent from $588 to $1,050. The increase of milk and garbage removal are $461 is due to a large number also expected to be awarded. In new business that will come have an X-ray this year plus the large number of new teachers recommended the disposal of all who require both X-ray and physical examinations. Added night classes have boosted community services from $350 to $1,000 or 181.8 per cent.

A summary of the new budget shows that $66,109 of the $63,459 increase in the budget will be in the cost of instruction. This 15.8 per cent increase, from $543,931 to $630,040, is due to the addition of two new bus drivers recommended for sale are the Oak Grove, Elm, Hickory Grove, Pine Grove, Oak Wood, Crystal Fountain and Sandy Knoll.

Transportation of handicapped children has upped transportation costs $5,341 from $71,767 to $77,108.

Capital outlay has been decreased by $11,523. Quailley said this drop from $42,787 to $31,263 was possible because the school is now at the point where all furniture and equipment is quite new and additional equipment requirements are becoming less.

Interest payments on the new Sugar Bush school which is under construction at the present time is the contributing factor in the increase of debt service which has raised from $54,781 to $63,721.

In analyzing the recommended budget, Quailley listed four chief reasons for the increase in costs: 1. Growing number of pupils enrolled (483 in all grades) for whom more buildings, equipment, supplies and services must be provided plus employment of more teachers and other personnel. 2. The continuing operation of the general control. Last year $36,345 was spent and this year $32,045 is proposed. This represents a 12 per cent drop. Quailley explained that last year the district paid $3,618 for a university survey of the district which increased the actuality of the instructional program expenditure.

Following the budget hearing Tuesday night the board of education will meet to adopt the final draft of the new budget.

Contracts for coal, gasoline and oil are also expected to be awarded. In new business that will come have an X-ray this year plus the large number of new teachers recommended the disposal of all who require both X-ray and physical examinations. Added night classes have boosted community services from $350 to $1,000 or 181.8 per cent.

Adding two new bus drivers recommended for sale are the Oak Grove, Elm, Hickory Grove, Pine Grove, Oak Wood, Crystal Fountain and Sandy Knoll.

Expect Plan Commission To Approve $31,310 Budget

Expenses for Fox River Regional Unit Slightly Lower Than in 1962

A proposed $31,310 budget for rent, up $500 to $1,500; equipment, up $100 to $500; insurance, up $150 to $500; conference travel, up $100 to $700; and educational committee, up $200 to $800.

The cost for contracted services has been reduced from an estimated $6,000 to an estimated $4,000.

Elm Disease Program

Kaukauna Mayor Joseph Bayor-geon suggested that the committee communicate with the county boards of the regional planning area about trying to determine some joint Dutch elm disease control program.

"The beetle that carries the disease doesn't know any boundary lines," he said. The other members of the board agreed and passed a resolution to contact the boards.

Study of the possibility of a uniform building code for the Fox Valley area was authorized. The regional planning staff will meet with town, village and city officials and contractors to see what purposes such a code would serve.

Contractors have complained that they must satisfy different building codes for each community. They would like to see if one updated code for the entire region could be arranged.

To Complete Maps

Updated and completed comprehensive land use maps for each member community of the commission should be completed within two weeks, Commission Director Eugene Franchette told the committee.

Two copies of each map will be made, one for use by the community involved and the other to be kept in commission office files, he said. The maps update the Fox Valley Region comprehensive map prepared two years ago.

Work on the Kaukauna "little master plan" will be done first because that municipality had made the first request for such a plan, the commission's policy committee said.

Suggestion for Future

Each community is to receive such a plan which is intended to be used as a suggestion for future development of the community in light of the Fox Valley region.

In other business, four fringe benefits for full time employees of the commission that cover vacations, mileage allowances, health insurance and sick leave allowances were approved.

The commission gave Franchette and Commission Planner John Lohrenz permission to attend the convention of the American Institute of Planners in Milwaukee, Oct. 26-30.

Plans for a workshop on regional planning for Fox Valley junior and senior high school teachers scheduled for Oct. 3 and 4 were reported by the education committee. It would be held in conjunction with the Ford Urban Program and include a speaker and demonstration.

Sign Stockbridge Sewerage Contract

Receive Final Work Plans for Jet-Age Port

Time Draws Near When Construction Bids Can be Let

Completed construction drawings for Outagamie County's new jet-age airport were received by the county board's airport committee Friday along with an official copy of the Federal Aviation Agency-approved master airport plan.

J. L. Donoghue, president of Ralph Burke, Inc., the county's airport architects, said copies of the plans and transmittal letters have been sent to appropriate agencies for final approval.

When these approvals come, and when the Outagamie committee gives its approval, the county will be ready to advertise for general construction bids.

Fixed Base Operation

The contracts are designed, Donoghue said, for the field itself, runways, grading, lighting etc., for the terminal building and a third one for the fixed base operation. Bids will be awarded in three parts — general construction, plumbing and electrical.

The fixed base operation bid may be let, Donoghue said, before the terminal building bid. Construction of the terminal must wait to determine if the airport will serve Appleton and its surrounding area or if it will serve both Appleton and Oshkosh.

If the fixed base and field construction is completed ahead of the terminal, North Central could move its operation into the fixed base office until the terminal is constructed, Donoghue said.

Two Contracts

Hedrich Construction Co. was awarded two contracts. It will build the treatment plant for $15,848 and install the necessary piping for $6,969.

Final adjustment of the electrical bid has not been completed. The Kiel and Werner Co., Neenah, will receive the contract. Its original bid was $3,260.

When the contracts were signed, it ended a prolonged row that virtually split the community for a time.

One Year Ago

Those living outside of the area to be served by the utility will not be obligated financially and those living within the service area are finally on the brink of getting something they have fought for.

The hassle, which had been fermenting for years, began to take shape more than a year ago when the village health officer, Dr. John Knauf, called a public meeting and warned villagers of potential health hazards existing in the community as a result of individual sewage treatment.

State Board of Health officials concurred with Dr. Knauf. The village's business community

Four Separate Pacts Totalling $154,430 Go to Chilton, Neenah, Green Bay Firms This Week

STOCKBRIDGE — The long proposed Stockbridge municipal sewerage system became a reality this week when Village President George Hostettler and Village Clerk George Ecker signed contracts for construction.

Work on the project began almost immediately. The Hedrich Construction Co., Chilton, successful bidder for the sewage treatment plant, moved men and equipment onto the plant site, according to a village official.

The four separate contracts awarded for the construction of the collection system and sewage treatment plant amounted to $154,430. The general contract for the installation of mains and laterals went to the Joski and Vanrite Construction Co., Green Bay, on an adjusted bid of $92,353. Originally the firm bid $92,406 but an error was discovered in a unit price tabulation which reduced the proposal.

Because of the village's unusual makeup and far-flung corporate boundary lines, it has a large number of farmers and lakeshore cottage dwellers as village residents. This group, fearing that it would be saddled with paying for something it would never have an opportunity to use, was generally opposed to the utility, although there were individual exceptions.

At a special referendum vote in November, 1962, electors turned thumbs down on the proposed project by a slim margin. The negative vote had apparently killed hopes for the utility until a state board of health order early this year ordered the village to construct a sewage collection and treatment plant to end pollution of Lake Winnebago.

Board Meetings

The inflammatory issue was debated, often heatedly, in a long series of village board meetings before the solution was reached. The solution was the creation of a utilities district.

Service was to be mandatory only to those living within the boundaries of the district. The district encompassed the village's urban area. Those living outside the district have no responsibility to the system's construction or its maintenance.

An in-service training for teachers will be held Aug. 26-28.

Discussion on Acting Inspired by Attic Play

Drama 'Far Country' Opens Tonight; Long Hours Spent in Research on Characters

BY JINGO

Acting is a craft that has many avenues to its fulfillment. The best practitioners cover their tracks and only the shrewdest judge can tell how the actor has prepared himself.

A case in point is the difference between Eleanor Duse and Sarah Bernhardt. The English critic Arthur Symonds noted the difference by pointing out Duse's allowing her soul to sculpt the emotions of her part upon her body and face while the Divine Sarah performed as the ultimate craftsman, working out her part until "she's got it."

Although contemporaries of Stanislavsky, it is unlikely that they had heard much of him and his Method. However, Duse represented the prototype of what the Method was to achieve. Stanislavsky held that the actor should prepare himself to project his role from the inside out — to give the part, in a manner of speaking, but only in a manner of speaking.

Somewhere along the line Stanislavsky and his Method got a bad name. The Actors' Studio in New York purports to inculcate the Method in its students — and this research produced a two-volume, viz., Gertrude Page, fold effect. The actors gained re- However, the studio has its im- mended interest in their roles. A tators and bad students and the Method has become a butt for jokes and gross misunderstanding, a ball looking at photographs of the people they were portraying and they were amazed at how much the playwright had lifted from the actual Freud letters. This was the primary effect, and perhaps the only one the actors may have recognized consciously.

Ralph Votapek Solo Pianist At Festival

Milwaukee Winner Of Van Cliburn Prize To Play 3 Concertos

FISH CREEK — The Peninsula Music Festival moves into its final week Sunday afternoon with one of the major attractions of the entire fortnight, the return of pianist Ralph Votapek as guest soloist. Votapek, 23-year-old Milwaukee winner of the $10,000 Van Cliburn Competition at Ft. Worth, Tex., last fall, will perform three concertos with the orchestra under the baton of Dr. Thor Johnson.

He will share solo honors with principal clarinetist Raymond Gariglio. First clarinet with the Chicago Lyric Opera, Gariglio will play Richard Wagner's Adagio for Clarinet and Strings.

This midweek concert is scheduled for 3 p.m. in the Festival of Gibraltar High School at Fish Creek. The remaining programs of the festival are at 8 p.m. Wednesday and Saturday nights and 3 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 25.

Four years ago, as an unknown student at Northwestern University, Votapek was Festival Pianist. John Browning was the big keyboard attraction that year, but the youthful Milwaukeean had one solo spot, performing Chopin's First Concerto.

Now an international celebrity in his own right, Votapek will play J. S. Bach's keyboard Concerto No. 5 in F Minor, Walter Piston's Concertino for Piano and Orchestra and the Piano Concerto in G Major by Maurice Ravel. It will mark the first time in his brief career that Votapek has played so many concertos on the same program.

Clarinetist Gariglio's contribution to the program will be one of Wagner's youthful works, Adagio for the Clarinet and Strings, and the composer's famous "Siegfried Idyll."

Luck Not Enough to Be Winner

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Once upon a time there was a poor but honest bridge player who seemed never to win a finesse. He complained so bitterly that the gods of luck sent a special messenger down to grant him a successful finesse. "Give him what he asks for," were the messenger's instructions. "Just get him to shut up."

Not suspecting his good fortune, South won the first trick with the ace of spades and thought to himself how nice it would be if the diamond finesse worked. So he led a heart to dummy's ace and returned a diamond to finesse with the queen.

The finesse worked, and South glowed with happiness. He cashed the ace of diamonds and then thought how nice it would be if the suit broke 3-3. So he led a low diamond, and got his wish when both opponents followed suit.

The messenger of the gods waited by with a cynical smile on his face. He knew that no bridge player is ever satisfied, even if he gets exactly what he asks for.

Take Spades
The defenders took their spades, thus amassing four tricks. Then West got out safely with a heart and waited for South to lead clubs from his own hand. East got the setting trick with the king of clubs.

South's trouble was that he had asked for the wrong finesse. It was possible to get three diamond tricks without a finesse; but he needed a club finesse for two tricks in that suit.

After taking the ace of spades South should lead out the ace and then the queen of diamonds. He gets three diamond tricks with the 3-3 break in the suit. Later, South leads a heart to dummy's ace and tries the club finesse. He gets three diamonds, two clubs, one spade, and three hearts for a total of nine tricks.

South is still complaining about his luck, but nobody listens any more.

Daily Question
Partner opens with 2NT, and the next player passes. You hold: S K J 9 H 6 4 2 D K 10 9 C K 9 6. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 6 NT. Partner's bid shows 22 to 24 points, and your 11 points show that the partnership count is 33 to 35 points. This should be enough for a small slam, but not enough for a grand slam.

Young Teen Expresses Desire To Learn Horse Talk Soon

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I don't know if this is the kind of a problem I should be bothering you with but I am only 13 years old and I don't have much love life yet to speak of.

Well, to get to the point, I am crazy about horses. After many years of begging, my folks are finally buying me a horse in September. Now I need to know how to talk horse talk.

I've got to get hold of a horse dictionary right away so I will be able to use words like gelding, filly, stud, withers, stallion and yearling.

Please tell me where I can get such a dictionary. I want to start studying now so I won't be ignorant in the horse-circles. No Horse Sense Yet.

Dear N.H.S. Yet: I know of er is ever satisfied, even if he gets exactly what he asks for.

Take Spades
The defenders took their spades, thus amassing four tricks. Then West got out safely with a heart and waited for South to lead clubs from his own hand. East got the setting trick with the king of clubs.

South's trouble was that he had asked for the wrong finesse. It was possible to get three diamond tricks without a finesse; but he needed a club finesse for two tricks in that suit.

After taking the ace of spades South should lead out the ace and then the queen of diamonds. He gets three diamond tricks with the 3-3 break in the suit. Later, South leads a heart to dummy's ace and tries the club finesse. He gets three diamonds, two clubs, one spade, and three hearts for a total of nine tricks.

South is still complaining about his luck, but nobody listens any more.

Daily Question
Partner opens with 2NT, and the next player passes. You hold: S K J 9 H 6 4 2 D K 10 9 C K 9 6. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 6 NT. Partner's bid shows 22 to 24 points, and your 11 points show that the partnership count is 33 to 35 points. This should be enough for a small slam, but not enough for a grand slam.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 17, a girl, and very much worried about my little brother. He is 12 and getting completely out of control.

Dad died two months ago and mom had to go to work right away. This left me in charge of the house and my brother. He used to be obedient and polite and never caused any trouble. Now he sasses me, leaves the house whenever he feels like it and comes home when he wants to.

I don't know where he is most of the time or who he is with. When I try to talk to him he tells me I am not his boss and we end up in a fight. My mother is too exhausted and too nervous to argue with him. Daddy was always the one who made the decisions in our family concerning my brother and now that he is gone I have inherited the job.

Please help me, Ann, before my little brother goes bad.—A Sister

Dear Sister: This is a critical time in your brother's life and I urge you to get help from an adult male. An uncle would be ideal, or a friend of your father. Perhaps your clergyman can come to the rescue.

Your approach to the boy should be gentle. He resents your taking his father's place as the authority in the family. Try to be soft-spoken, and above all, let him know you love him.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Two years ago I invested $10,000 in a small business. For my $10,000 I own 30 per cent. My partners are four men who are not related to me, but they are all related to each other.

The payroll looks like their family roll call. Before I sat down to write this letter I checked and this is the way it reads: A sister-in-law, two brothers-in-law, a son, two daughters, an uncle, three nieces, and a nephew.

The business is doing well, but I have the feeling it would do better if we got rid of some of the relatives. It was recently decided that two of the relatives will be sent to Europe at company expense to "look at items we might buy."

The trip is a phony and I'm burned up about it. What can I do about this boondoggle?—Hot Under the Collar

Dear Collar: Sell your 20 per cent and remove yourself from the list of ulcer candidates. What you make on the investment cannot compensate for what you stand to lose.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Trend of Taxation

Our Madison correspondent has noted that taxation has changed in Wisconsin as in most parts of the nation from a philosophy of making the taxpayer aware of how much he contributes toward the budget and the expense of the services he demands to a policy of trying to make taxes unnoticed and as painless as possible. Both the sales tax and withholding provisions are part of this trend.

Feel Those Autumn Breezes?

Summer sighed heavily this week. The chilling breezes from the north were harbingers of death for a gentle, beloved season. With the passing of August, summer grows old and becomes autumn. Nature prepares for another season's birth—but not without warning creatures of earth.

Problems in Locating Airports

In Wisconsin, where communities compete with each other to become the site of regional airports, the point of view of almost everyone within a hundred miles of New York City is hard to understand. Although New York desperately needs a fourth major jet airport to serve the area, the site has not been chosen because of opposition.

'Immoral' Birth Control

During the various debates around the world about the dangers of the "population explosion" or the methods of birth control, there has been controversy over the moral issues involved. One issue in particular seems of importance here. Too many people may be a threat to the well-being of practically everyone in the world and be a reason for concern. But if too many people are in reality a threat only to a particular government, the advocates of limiting the population should say so.

estimated $7 million per year. But the outcry from irate citizens has been loud. Legislators have hastily explained that the filing fee was adopted because it was one thing they could almost all agree upon in the last hectic days of passing a budget and tax compromise bill.

However, it appears likely that the fee will be replaced by something less apparent. Wisconsin residents, lulled by the pabulum of bland, painless taxes may feel next spring when they file returns that the fee is the final insult. In reality it merely sticks out like a sore thumb in a society that turns to government to provide all the needs and luxuries at a cost unnoticed by the taxpayer.

be more than playful leaps and bounds over sun-drenched fields and cool green-clothed trees. And so too, for many of us, life takes on a new tack. We begin the task of putting away playthings of summer. Daily jobs take on the routine of autumn and Johnny thinks of long days in school.

Many of us may have sighed this week—thinking of the autumns in our lives.

Finding a large area suitable for clearing for an airport anywhere near New York City is difficult enough. But residents don't want jet planes zooming overhead and they don't want the automobile traffic to the airport. While the distances already involved are much greater than considered realistic in Wisconsin—Idlewild is twenty-five miles from downtown Manhattan—the airport cannot be located too far away even with the building of a heliport within the city.

Chinese Reds Can Be Expected To Make New Trouble in Asia

If the Soviet Chinese Communist split persists, Peking can be expected to throw its weight around in Asia, even to the point of generating dangerous-looking crises.

Chinese Reds Can Be Expected To Make New Trouble in Asia

Similarly, Peking's anger with Moscow may lead the Chinese toward more reckless thrusts into Indochina. It would be no surprise if the Chinese now, with the hearty cooperation of Ho Chi Minh's North Vietnamese Communists, tossed overboard completely the careful strategy of Moscow with regard to southeast Asia, and stepped up the Red drive to envelop both South Viet Nam and Laos.

Mrs. Proxmire's Book On Politician's Wife Should be Interesting

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — Only a handful of women in Wisconsin have had the breadth and length of political experience of Mrs. Ellen Proxmire, wife of the senior senator from Wisconsin.

Wyngaard

Not only because of her close experience in political affairs as a worker in the Democratic party organization and later as the wife of a high ranking legislator will the volume be likely to have a brisk circulation in her home state. Mrs. Proxmire is, besides, one of the most charming and intelligent of the women who have been raised to prominence in Wisconsin public affairs lately.

She has not confided much of the contents of the book that will be called "One Foot in Washington," but a recent and generally unpublicized speech delivered to a group of Wisconsin Democrats may provide some clues to her attitudes and conclusions about the political life of the lady in the political house.

UNDERSTANDING
Mrs. Proxmire was addressing a women's section at the annual Democratic state convention, and her text was an appeal for more understanding of the kind of life modern politicians are required to lead, and more particularly, the kind of lives forced upon their families in the gold-fish bowl pattern of these times.

Yet a casual reading of her speech manuscript inspires the belief that there are some moments when Mrs. Proxmire longs for the quiet life of the more typical wife and mother, and sometimes would exchange the glamor and the excitement and the other returns of high political life for it.

"It is hard," she confesses, "to be glamorous when you haven't had time to have your suit pressed, or your shoes shined, or when your clothing is uncomfortably hot on an unexpectedly warm day. It is hard to have a ready smile and the right answers when you have had only three hours sleep. It is even harder sometimes to remember what town you're in when you have been in six others earlier the same day, or to recall the names of people you know well when you've seen hundreds of other faces in the space of a few hours."

TROUBLES
The dilemma of the politician and his family is many-sided, Mrs. Proxmire continues, as she explains the price paid by the professional elected officeholder with a wry kind of humor. "If you drive a bright new car you are obviously too well paid or extravagant. If you drive an old klunk people comment that this is too undignified a vehicle for one in your exalted position," she continues.

In the intensity of his communications effort, again, Mrs. Proxmire's favorite senator is exceptional. He over-spends his official money allowance regularly, she reported candidly, so that their experience in Washington can be described as "financial brinkmanship" with regard to their personal situation.

The senatorial wife also learns painfully, Mrs. Proxmire reported in a more serious tone, that constant scrutiny by friend and foe becomes a burden and especially when it is accompanied so often by the casually cruel criticism.

One may wonder whether Sen. Proxmire read his wife's remarks before she delivered them to the working Democratic women. The senator always presents a smiling face to the world. But his wife appeared to be dead serious when she declared that while public discussion is a healthful thing in politics, her interpretation of "such an honest discussion leaves no room or likelihood of the use of the words opportunist, hypocrite, false liberal or fence sitter." There are scores of other political wives who will endorse the sentiment heartily.

Taylor Says He's Ready This Time

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service

DALLAS—The Packers will get a mild taste of what to expect during the league season in the Cotton Bowl tonight.

The Cowboys are making their first appearance of the season here since they just came in from their California training camp Friday. There will be 60,000 fans on hand, including many backers of the departed American League Texans who now are in Kansas City.

The Cowboys will be snorting in this, their first sales job at home. In short, they'll want to look good.

By comparison, the Steelers' game in Miami was akin to a picnic. Pittsburgh Coach Buddy Parker said after the game that the Steelers had scrimmaged very little before they went against the champions.

More Advanced
Vince Lombardi has reminded his charges of the Steelers' pre-season plight and also that the Cowboys can be expected to be much more advanced. Dallas opened last week with a 17-14 victory over the Rams.

Kickoff today is set for 9 p.m. The Packers have put in what hunting days allowed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The time week. The extremely hot weather that greeted the team opportunity to split the goose season in the week disappointed son into early and late shoots.

Pierce Auto, Subway Bar, Pond's Sport Shop, and Bleier's Bar enter play on Thursday night. Quarter-final play has been set for Monday, Aug. 26, with the semi-finals set for Aug. 27.

Big Jim says he's ready to roar again. Hampered by a knee injury in the last two games, Taylor started to cut and turn as the daily bag may not include more than two mallard or black ducks.

The season on canvassback and in redheads remains closed and only two wood ducks may be included in either bag or possession, and the daily bag may not include more than two mallard or black ducks.

The goose kill in areas surrounding the Horicon National Wildlife Refuge will be limited to 12,000. Bag and possession limits remain at five, and may include no more than two Canada or white-fronted geese. The ref-uge will close when the quota is reached.

Tom Fisher's 3-Hitter Gives Fox Cities Split

Waterloo Star Shortstop Suffers Fracture of Foot

WATERLOO, Ia. — Tom Fisher's brilliant 3-hitter in the second game enabled the Fox Cities to gain a split with Waterloo in a Midwest League twin bill here Friday night.

Waterloo rallied for a pair of runs in the last inning to salvage the victory in the first game. The Foxes held a 4-3 advantage going into the final inning but a wild series of events led up to the defeat.

Waterloo's prospects for the rest of the season took a severe setback in the second game when star shortstop Tom Andrews suffered a compound fracture of his foot while rounding first base.

Andrews was the team's leader and top hitter with a .325 average. In the second game, the Foxes and Waterloo went into the last inning in a 1-1 tie when the Foxes came up with a pair of runs on key runs by Dave May and Bill Grim.

The only run off Fisher was Bucky Rosen's homer in the fourth.

Gene Oliver Keys Braves' Comeback Win Over Houston

Bases-Loaded Single in Ninth Gives Milwaukee 3-2 Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Gene Oliver, the key man in the Milwaukee Braves deal that sent Lew Burdette to the St. Louis Cardinals, has paid another dividend.

A single by Oliver with two out in the ninth inning topped a two-run rally and gave the Braves a 3-2 victory over the Houston Colts Friday night in a game delayed by rain 45 minutes in the eighth when Milwaukee trailed 2-1.

Bob Shaw was the winner, working in relief, and is now 5 and 9. The loss went to Hal Woodeshick, who also was on the mound in relief. He has a 10-7 record.

Dick Farrell started for the Colts and held the Braves scoreless on eight scattered hits through seven innings. Tony Cloninger started for the Braves and worked seven innings.

The Colts got both of their runs in the first inning on John Bateman's ninth home run after Pete Runnels had doubled.

The Braves scored their first run in the eighth on a single by Frank Bolling and a double to right by Ed Mathews. Just after the Braves scored, the rain forced the delay.

After Shaw had retired the Colts in order in their share of the ninth, fanning two, the Braves went to work.

Joe Torre singled as he batted for Del Crandall. Bob Hendley went in to run for Torre and Ty Cline was sent to the plate for Shaw. Woodeshick replaced Farrell only to be worked for a Cline sacrifice that moved Hendley to second.

A single by Lee Maye scored Hendley. Maye got to second as Bolling struck out and the third strike was a passed ball. Hank Aaron and Mathews walked, filling the bases and setting the stage for the decisive single to left by Oliver.

The Braves and Colts will continue their series tonight. Denny Lemaster, 8-8, will start for Milwaukee, facing Dick Drott, 2-9.

Mexico Favored As McKinley Loses

Osuna Defeats Wimbledon Star In American Zone Davis Cup Play

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mexico, the underdog before play started goes into Saturday's doubles match of the American Zone Davis Cup tennis competition as a solid favorite over the United States—proving what a difference a scorching day, and Rafael Osuna, can make.

The handsome Osuna, playing brilliant, unerring tennis, upset Wimbledon champ Chuck McKinley Friday 6-2, 3-6, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3. That win gave Mexico a 1-1 split after the first day as tempestuous Dennis Ralston easily bested Mexico's Antonio Palafox 6-1, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, in the second singles match.

The experts around the Los Angeles Tennis Club had figured McKinley a sure winner over Osuna — although the Mexican Clinton staked the Red Sox to a 4-1 lead in the first inning against Jack Kralick, and Yastrzemski connected in a three-run sixth that seemed to put Boston safely out front. But the Indians closed the gap on home runs by John Romano and Larry Brown, and reliever Dick Radatz had to get the final two outs for Bob Heffner.

Regan, 8-7, took over for the Tigers in the seventh after they had rallied for three runs to tie the score 6-6. A double by Albie Pearson, Jim Fregosi's bunt single and a single by Billy Moran broke the tie in the bottom of the inning and the Angels added two more runs on a run-producing McKinley will beat Palafox," he said.

So far, the famed Ecuadorian pro is batting 1.000.

Whoever wins the semifinals here will be a heavy favorite to eventually meet Australia in the Chicago Round. Mexico got there last year only to lose 5-0 to the Aussies.

The Latinos are a much better club this year.

The Osuna-Ralston singles on Sunday will pit buddy against buddy. The two are roommates at the University of Southern California and once won the Wimbledon doubles title together.

Osuna—even with Friday's temperature at 114 degrees—played tennis like Ben Hogan used to play golf—cool, canny, daring.

Ralston, a rangy youth—6-foot-2—plays a slambang game like a Bill Tilden or Pancho Gonzalez. But whereas Osuna is a pressure player, Ralston has a low boiling point. At one juncture Friday, when he smashed a ball into the net, he kicked the ball up into the stands.

Roger Paul Cops 25-Lap Feature In 'Stock' Race

Roger Paul battled Manitowick's Bob Wester down to the final lap before winning the 25-lap feature at the Outagamie Speedway Thursday night.

Another Manitowick driver, Bucky Wagner, finished third behind Paul, who hails from Black Creek.

Bill Stewart captured the semi-feature event with Shiocton's Buzz Kannaman finishing second and Manitowick's Dick Robbins placing third.

Gene Wheeler, of Appleton, drove his No. 36 to victory in the demolition race and Menasha's Chuck Holowski won the bonus race for non-qualifiers.

Clyde Schumacher had the fastest time in the pre-race time trials with a 16.26. For the first time all of the cars entered in the feature were timed under 17 seconds in the time trials.

Wheeler won the first heat and Gerry Smith drove his No. 96 home first in the second heat. Paul captured the third heat and Menasha's George Giesen won the fourth heat.

$10 Million Libel Suit To Face Jury Monday

ATLANTA (AP)—The trial of Wallace Butts' $10 million libel suit against the Saturday Evening Post is expected to go to the jury Monday after final arguments by both sides.

An attorney for Butts argued before a Federal Court jury Friday that the Post ruined Butts' reputation with charges that he rigged a football game.

"The Saturday Evening Post has apparently gone into the business of buying libel suits," said Allen Lockerman, one of Butts' lawyers.

"They have got untold millions of dollars in publicity," Lockerman argued. "That's what they want."

He said a $10 million verdict for Butts "would be the greatest merchandising bargain the Post ever bought."

Butts is suing Curtis Publishing Co. for a March 23 article charging that he and Coach Paul Brown had conspired to rig the 1962 Georgia-Alabama football game.

Welborn B. Cody, Curtis attorney, told the jury Butts had not lived up to the standard of conduct required of him as coach and later as athletic director.

In 1960, Cody said, Butts was permitted to resign as head football coach and remain as athletic director after some alumni had "called attention to this night life of Coach Butts." Cody said Butts was given an opportunity to "straighten himself out."

"But he became bitter and that bitterness grew from bad to worse," Cody said. Butts not only failed in building the character of young

Quiet Dawson Is Leader of Kansas City 11

BY JIM VAN VALKENBURG Associated Press Staff Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Len Dawson, asked what happened in his "third straight" year explained it in two words: "Graham retired." He added, "There is no other explanation. That was it."

Ewbank explained "injuries killed us — especially John Unitas who hurt the middle finger on his passing hand."

Weeb pointed out a few other obstacles in his club's bid for a "third straight," such as "Father time caught up with us pretty good. And we weren't as hungry as we had been. The money was coming in pretty easy and too many players went commercial."

Ewbank added: "Too many times we played just hard enough to win, but on occasion it wasn't enough. Pressure can be trouble, some too, and it may have hurt some of our younger players."

"And Brown asked: 'Troubles in doing it a third time?' and answered: 'They'll fail mentally more than they will physically. You've got to have an intense desire to do this because after winning two straight it's easier to run out of dedication.'"

The astute Brown explained that "some men handle success better than others. That will be the test. A certain deterioration sets in after each success."

Dawson got his chance when Hank Stram, Chiefs coach who has his backfield coach at Purdue, turned the club over to him in 1962.

Dawson calls most of the plays for the Chiefs, and he believes this policy of Stram's was a major factor in the team's surge to the AFL championship last fall. Some pro coaches call all the plays.

"This puts the game more in the hands of the players and serves as an inspiration for the club," he said.

"Coach Stram has great imagination in his offense but the big thing is the way he handles men and develops their confidence."

"He does it with a pat on the back and with a sense of humor."

Dawson was the AFL's top passer from start to finish in '62, completing 61 per cent of his 310 passes for 2,749 yards and 29 touchdowns. He's proud of his low figure of 17 interceptions.

"Lennie's success was no surprise to me," Stram said.

Dawson believes the Chiefs are strong enough to repeat as FL champs because of an outstanding group of pass receivers led by Chris Burford.

Los Angeles Try at Out-Metting Mets Fails in 7-6 Win

Dodgers Take Four-Game Lead As Cards Bomb San Francisco

BY BOB GREEN Associated Press Staff Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers gave every indication of trying to out-met the Mets Friday night and give away a game, but the 10th place New Yorkers wouldn't stand for it.

This business of blowing games, after all, is a Met specialty and they refused to be out-played at their own game. So they carefully waited until the top of the ninth to blow a 7-6 lead, helping Los Angeles to three runs, then calmly rolled over in their half of the ninth.

That saddled the Dodgers with a 9-7 victory they had done their best to give away and allowed them to stretch their National League lead to four games over second place San Francisco, 13-0 victims at St. Louis. The third place Cardinals now trail the Giants by a single game.

In the others, Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh 3-0, Milwaukee rallied 3-2 against Houston and Chicago and Cincinnati split a two-night doubleheader, the Cubs romping 10-1 in the first and the Reds taking the second 8-2.

Blow Leads

The Dodgers had blown leads of 1-0, 3-1 and 6-4 and had held down their own scoring by some uncertain base-running before the Mets helped them out in the ninth.

Willie Davis started it with a scratch single, was sacrificed to second and took third on a passed ball. Maury Wills looped a little single to left to score him and Wills scampered to third on Jim Gilliam's ground single to left.

Wally Moon tapped to Duke Carmel at first, Carmel froze with the ball and the bases were loaded. The tie-breaking run came in on third baseman Jim Hickman's throwing error and a sacrifice fly drove in another.

The Mets had gone ahead with three runs in the fifth, centered around Duke Snider's two-run single. It was preceded by two infield singles, a hit batsman and Tommy Davis' error on a potential double play grounder.

Ron Perranoski gained credit for the victory, his 13th against only two losses.

Cards Rout Giants

The Cardinals pounded 18 hits in the rout of the Giants, with Bill White and George Altman each driving in three runs. Giant right-hander Jim Duffalo, whose pitching hand was split by Curt Flood's single, was tagged with the loss. Washington Senators, at police request, have postponed the night games scheduled here Aug. 27 and Aug. 28—the eve of the civil rights march on Washington and the night after.

The contests, against the Minnesota Twins, will be played as an afternoon doubleheader Thursday, Aug. 29.

The Senators, announcing the shift, said Chief Robert V. Murray of the Metropolitan Police Department asked for the rescheduling because of the severe strain the planned demonstration by 100,000 or more civil rights advocates will place on the traffic division.

Joe Cronin, president of the American League, and Calvin Griffith, president of the Twins, agreed to the shift.

news about the Comstock family to his wife.

"It was then that she told me our daughter had slept there overnight," Schellhuth said. "I didn't know she was one of the dead until then. I didn't know."

A watchman for the K-C Corp. plant sounded the alarm shortly after 3:30 a.m. when he noticed flames emanating from the front room of the Comstock house and spreading to the porch. He notified the Niagara Volunteer Fire Department, which rushed all available men to the scene.

Dead on Floor
Firemen who fought their way through the flames in the living room and groped their way through the dense smoke to the upstairs, said there was no sign of life. They found the victims lying on the floor in the four bedrooms and indicated the Comstocks and the four children may have attempted to flee the smoke-engulfed building.

As the victims were carried from the residence, firemen and police administered artificial respiration in a desperate attempt to revive them. All were taken to Dickinson County Memorial Hospital in a Niagara Police Department squad car and an ambulance which was rushed to the scene from nearby Iron Mountain.

Authorities said the fire centered in the living room and there was a possibility it started in a couch. The heavy smoke and flames caused the upstairs occupants to suffocate, they said. It is also believed the fire may have smoldered for some time before flames fanned out to other parts of the first floor and outside to the porch. The heavy smoke damage was confined to the upstairs rooms of the seven-room home which is owned by Kimberly-Clark.

The Marinette County coroner also was called to the scene to confirm identification of the victims and attributed deaths to suffocation. The community is located just a few miles from the Wisconsin-Michigan state line with the K-C mill its only major industry.

An assistant state fire marshal was slated to arrive here before noon to investigate the cause of the fire.

After the bodies were taken to Iron Mountain, Mr. and Mrs. Schellhuth went to the hospital to claim the body of their daughter. They have four other children: Mike 7, Steve 6, Karen 5 and Tom 3.

Fireman too ill to talk
One fireman who assisted in locating and carrying the bodies from the home said there was no evidence the man, woman and four children had been burned.

"It was a very tragic sight and I'm too sick to talk about it," he said.

Several of the volunteers who rushed to the scene of the blaze had been working at the mill, and then returned to their jobs later in the morning.

Gilbert Brault, the assistant fire chief who directed the volunteers in the absence of the vacationing fire chief had finished his shift at the mill but was reportedly called back to work again early this morning when "an emergency" developed at the mill.

Village Marshal Joseph Roussee indicated there was a strong possibility the fire may have been caused by a cigarette but there was no official confirmation.

Comstock, a native of Detroit, was a 16-year employee of the Kimberly-Clark Corp. and a graduate of Houghton Tech. Mich. College. During the course of his years at K-C Comstock worked in the technical department of the Niagara Falls, N. Y. mill, and in the technical department at the Kimberly, Wis. mill, participating in the startup of the new No. 5 machine. Comstock also was a paper finishing superintendent at Kimberly for a time and also was assistant to the manager of the mill's Neenah headquarters.

Thoms at whose home Robert Comstock is now staying is manager of the mill here.

Twister
Laurie Carlson of Madison who was camping at the resort with his family said, "Those weren't just high winds. That was a twister."

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Madison, about 30 miles south of the storm scene, said it had no official word on a tornado. The storm hit about 8 p.m. lasted half an hour and traveled northeast about 15 miles before hitting a hill near Lodi and breaking up.

Carlson said 4 or 5 house trailers in the camping area were destroyed and about the same number of cottages in the woods were wrecked. About 300 persons were in the camping area and resort when the storm hit. They were taken to Lodi for the night.

Lodi Fire Chief Vern Hillestad said damage will run into millions of dollars.

Storm Hits Stockbridge, Winnebago

was an interruption in telephone service to about 100 subscribers on Neenah's south side.

Emergency crews were called from the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. in Appleton to assist in making repairs.

The storm was blamed for two traffic mishaps in Neenah.

At 7:50 p.m., a car driven by Patrick R. Cannon, 43, 802 S. Commercial St., Neenah, hit a tree which had blown over in the front of him in the 600 block of S. Commercial St. Cannon was not injured.

At 8:15 p.m., brake failure blamed on the wet weather, and slippery road conditions resulted in a two-car crash at the intersection of Winnebago Avenue and S. Commercial Street.

Police said that a vehicle driven by Shirley J. Shanahan, 509 Winnebago Heights, Neenah, struck a car driven by William Seggeling, 773 Reed St., Neenah, when the brakes on the Shanahan car failed to hold.

Miss Shanahan was eastbound on Winnebago and attempted a right turn onto Spruce Street as Seggeling was making a left turn onto S. Commercial.

Damage was estimated at over $100. There were no injuries.

In Waupaca there was no damage, but the Waupaca County sheriff's department received several telephone calls from people concerned about radio reports of people being injured in the storm at Crystal Lake. The sheriff's department informed the people that it was Crystal Lake in Columbia County not Waupaca County.

Elsewhere, a storm described as being of tornadic velocity belted Columbia and Sauk counties, injuring at least 13 persons and leaving a wide path of damage. One estimate placed damages in the millions.

The storm hit hardest at Gannon's resort on Crystal Lake, where Columbia County authorities said 13 persons were injured. Nine of them were treated at the Sauk Prairie Hospital and released. One was held overnight. The others did not require hospital attention.

Expect Water Tank Completion Oct. 1

Structure on Appleton's Northwest Side Will Hold More Than 2 Million Gallons

Residents on Appleton's northwest side will have better water pressure after Oct. 1—the target date for completion of a 2,100,000 gallon water tank.

In recent years the water department has received complaints from the area that pressure was inadequate.

A progress report on the construction of the tank, known as a standpipe because its base will be situated on the ground, was given Friday afternoon at a meeting of the Appleton Water Commission.

Costs $113,000

The standpipe, costing $113,000 plus land, is being erected by the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co. Steel plates used to shape the huge tank have a thickness of 1½ inches and are lifted into place by a crane.

Three sections of the tank already are up and were being welded together this week. The fourth section is scheduled to be put into place next week.

The commission indicated it will have the tank painted a color that will blend in with the surrounding neighborhood, a residential area.

Location of the new water tank is on two city-owned lots near the northeast corner of Summit and W. Lindbergh streets.

Four Times as Much Water When completed and in operation, the standpipe will hold four times as much water as any other municipal tank.

In other action, the commission:

Voted to rescind a recently adopted policy which would have called for a minimum $25 penalty, plus repair costs, to be paid by any contractor damaging a city water main or pipe.

Indicated it did not want to be included in space plans for the proposed new municipal garage, citing that it has land to expand its present, centrally-located office and garage near the downtown district.

Creative Drama Unit to Present Several Plays

KAUKAUNA — The annual creative drama production by children enrolled in recreation department sponsored classes will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the basement of the municipal building.

Besides performing in several plays written by the youngsters, the children will present a short version of "Hansel and Gretel" and "The Moon Shot." Director is Miss Marguerite Van Hulst. Due to limited seating capacity in the basement, attendance will be limited to parents and relatives of youngsters participating.

Neenah Man Advised To See Doctor After Two-Car Collision

NEENAH — A Neenah man was advised to see his physician following a two-car collision at 4:15 p.m. Friday.

Donald R. Ashley, 30, 631 Greenfield St., complained of a sore left elbow after the car he was driving and a vehicle operated by James W. Moroney, 19, 829 Third St., Menasha, collided at the intersection of W. Cecil and Harrison streets.

Police reported that Ashley was westbound on Cecil when Moroney, who was driving north on Harrison, pulled out in front of the Ashley car.

Moroney told officers that he stopped for an arterial sign but didn't see the approaching car. Damage to the left front hood and fender of the Ashley vehicle and to the right front of the Moroney car was estimated at over $100.

In another accident reported to police, over $100 damage resulted when a car driven by Carlton W. Hoehne, 34, 311 Pine St., Neenah, was struck from the rear by a car driven by Robert H. Gear Jr., 44, 146 Fifth St., Neenah.

Hoehne was turning south onto Commercial Street from Wisconsin Avenue, and stopped to allow pedestrians to cross in front of him, when the mishap occurred.

The accident was reported at 1:45 p.m. Friday.

A Violent Squall in the Twin City area Friday night inundated streets, damaged trees, disrupted power and was accompanied by hail in some areas. A group of youngsters helped Eugene Law clear the street after a tree blew down in the 600 block of S. Commercial Street, Neenah. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Sign Stockbridge Sewerage Contract

Four Separate Pacts Totalling $154,430 Go to Valley Firms

STOCKBRIDGE — The long proposed Stockbridge municipal sewerage system became a reality this week when Village President George Hostettler and Village Clerk George Ecker signed contracts for construction.

Work on the project began almost immediately. The Hedrich Construction Co., Chilton, successful bidder for the sewage treatment plant, moved men and equipment onto the plant site, according to a village official.

The four separate contracts awarded for the construction of the collection system and sewage treatment plant amounted to $154,430. The general contract for the installation of mains and laterals went to the Joski and Vanrite Construction Co., Green Bay, on an adjusted bid of $92,353.

Originally the firm bid $92,406 but an error was discovered in a unit price tabulation which reduced the proposal.

Two Contracts Hedrich Construction Co. was awarded two contracts. It will build the treatment plant for $15,848 and install the necessary piping for $6,969.

Final adjustment of the electrical bid has not been completed. The Kiel and Werner Co., Neenah, will receive the contract. Its original bid was $3,260.

When the contracts were signed, it ended a prolonged row that virtually split the community for a time.

One Year Ago Those living outside of the area to be served by the utility will not be obligated financially and those living within the service area are finally on the brink of getting something they have fought for.

The hassle, which had been fermenting for years, began to take shape more than a year ago when the village health officer, Dr. John Knauf, called a public meeting and warned villagers of potential health hazards existing in the community as a result of individual sewage treatment.

State Board of Health officials concurred with Dr. Knauf.

The village's business community and chamber of commerce supported the project because it represented a potential boost to community growth as well as for the health and sanitation reasons.

Because of the village's unusual makeup and far-flung corporate boundary lines, it has a large number of farmers and lakeshore cottage dwellers as village residents. This group, fearing that it would be saddled with paying for something it would never have an opportunity to use, was generally opposed to the utility, although there were individual exceptions.

At a special referendum vote in November, 1962, electors turned thumbs down on the proposed project by a slim margin. The negative vote had apparently killed hopes for the utility until a state board of health order early this year ordered the village to construct a sewage collection and treatment plant to end pollution of Lake Winnebago.

Board Meetings The inflammatory issue was debated, often heatedly, in a long series of village board meetings before the solution was reached. The solution was the creation of a utilities district.

Service was to be mandatory only to those living within the boundaries of the district. The district encompassed the village's urban area. Those living outside the district have no responsibility to the system's construction or its maintenance.

Delayed by State Tax Stalemate

Voters at New London to Air School Budget at Public Hearing

NEW LONDON — Voters of the New London School District will air the 1963-64 proposed school budget of $968,893 at a public hearing which will be held in the school auditorium Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The new budget, which was delayed because of the state legislature budget squabble has increased $83,459 over the 1962-63 actual school expenditures of $885,434, or a 10.7 per cent increase. This increase is less than the budget increase of last year which was a 16.1 per cent increase over the previous year.

Local taxes will contribute $597,620 of the budget and integrated state aids are expected to contribute $270,898. The approximate tax rate for 1963-64 will be 15.64 mills for school operation.

To this, two mills for a sinking fund for furniture and equipment for the Sugar Bush Elementary School and the new high school is being added, making total tax rate of 17.64 mills for general operation and sinking fund. Last year the combined tax rate was 15.57 mills.

Present equalized valuation of the school district is $38,211,200 an increase over last year's $36,874,830.

State Aids State aids for 1963-64 will bring $270,898 to the district which is $12,270 less than was received in 1962-63. Superintendent of Schools Lloyd Qualley explains that while there will be a decrease there have been increased costs and increasing enrollments in the schools of the state and the state budget has not been compensated for these increases.

A summary of the new budget shows that $85,106 of the $93,459 increase in the budget will be in the cost of instruction. This 13.8 per cent increase, from $543,931 to $630,040, is due to the addition of 10 teachers, increase in teachers' salaries, general increase in books and supplies for an increased enrollment plus summer school costs for high school and elementary school students.

Added Costs In breaking the budget down further the cost of operation also has increased, from $65,130 last year to a proposed $72,724 in the new budget. This increase of $7,594 is due to added cost of fuel, telephone, electricity, salary including 1,938 in all 24 classes, for whom more bus fares, equipment supplies and services must be provided plus employment of more teachers and other personnel.

The continuing operation of the creases, opening of the Medina School for kindergarten and increased costs of cleaning supplies. Maintenance costs have decreased 19.8 per cent in the proposed budget from $32,564 in 1962-63 to $26,119. Superintendent Qualley said this $6,445 drop was due to maintenance of past years whereby new roofs, blacktopping, new furnaces and other major repairs have reduced the cost of maintenance.

Another decrease is shown in general control. Last year $36,345 was spent and this year $33,045 is proposed. This represents a $3,300 drop. Qualley explained that last year the district paid $3,618 for a university survey of the district which increased the actual expenditure.

Percentage-wise, auxiliary services and community services took the greatest jump. Auxiliary services went up 78.5 per cent from $580 to $1,050. The increase of $461 is due to a large number of teachers who are required to have an X-ray this year plus the large number of new teachers who require both X-ray and physical examinations. Added night classes have boosted community services from $550 to $1,000 or 81.8 per cent.

Adding two new bus drivers along with drivers' salary increases and additional costs for transportation of handicapped children has upped transportation costs $5,341 from $71,767 to $77,108.

Capital outlay has been decreased by $11,525. Qualley said this drop from $42,787 to $31,263 was possible because the school is now at the point where all furniture and equipment is quite new and additional equipment requirements are becoming less.

Interest payments on the new Sugar Bush school which is under construction at the present time is the contributing factor in the increase of debt service which has raised from $34,781 to $63,721.

In analyzing the recommended budget Qualley listed four main reasons for the increase: 1. Growing number of students enrolled, 1,938 in all 24 classes, for whom more bus fares, equipment supplies and services must be provided plus employment of more teachers and other personnel.

2. The continuing operation of the BAILEYS HARBOR — Expenditure of over $4.5 million for outdoor recreation development during the current fiscal year was hopefully approved by the state recreation committee here Friday.

The 1963-4 budget for land purchases, easements and special projects amounts to $4,523,000. It is slightly less than 50 per cent of the committee's initial $9,096,000 appropriation, which covered the 1961-63 biennium.

But committee members, with Gov. John W. Reynolds presiding as their chairman, had their fingers crossed, at least figuratively.

No Authority The legislature has failed to act on a new appropriation. The committee itself does not have the specific authority to allocate funds or spend them.

Officially, the committee's action here Friday was merely a recommendation. Unless it encounters legal roadblocks, however, it is committed to proceed with the designated expenditures.

"Somebody might try to stop us with a taxpayer's suit, or the state treasurer might refuse to release the money," committee member Lester G. Voigt told a reporter. Voigt is director of the State Conservation Department.

Cigarette Tax The money comes from the one-cent cigarette tax set up by the 1961 legislature in authorizing a $50 million, 10 year outdoor recreation development program.

The meeting was held in the Bailey's Harbor town hall at the request of Gov. Reynolds, who is vacationing in Door County. Besides passing on the budget for the first year of the current biennium, the committee heard progress reports on land acquisition and easements, but no action was taken on specific items.

Projects Not Abandoned Harvey G. Grasse, member of the committee as chairman of the state Highway Commission, said projects contemplated for Door County have not been abandoned. The committee would like to see two more state parks in the Door peninsula, but the county board has refused the required sanction.

Committee members present besides Reynolds, Grasse and Voigt were Henry L. Ahlgren, chairman of the State Soil and Water conservation committee, and Ralph Hovind, of the Dept. of Resource Development. Wilbur J. Schmidt, director of Public Welfare, was represented by George Keith from his office.

In acting on the budget, the committee was not simply whis-

The Northeastern Wisconsin Firemen's Safety League is comprised of 40 units and most have indicated they would be sending some representatives, noted Sanders. Sessions will start about 12:30 p.m. and continue until about 6 p.m., said the chief.

Fires are to be started in the basement, back bedroom, upstairs and attic and various methods used to handle the blazes. Instruction will also be given in the use of smoke ejectors. Members of the Vandenberg volunteer department will assist Little Chute firemen in manning hydrants and fire trucks which will be used in the school.

Agriculture Magazine Suspended Because of Lack of State Monies

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — In the forty-seventh year of its life, the Wisconsin Crop and Livestock Reporter has been suspended by the state department of agriculture.

For nearly five decades the cooperative monthly publication of the state and U.S. departments of agriculture has periodically summarized livestock and crop statistics and agricultural price trends.

Donald N. McDowell, director of the state department, said the suspension was caused by a reduction in state funds available for the preparation and distribution of the information bulletin, but that steps are being taken to incorporate some of its materials into other publications of the agency.

A Group of Neenah-Menasha Junior Red Cross members left Friday for Green Lake where they will attend a training conference next week.
